Webster's Prides Go Down Before "Agincourtiers"

AT LAST THEY FALL, AT
HANDS OF SNAPPY
INVADERS

By JACK PEPPIATT

The Newmarket softball girls toppled from the pinnacle of a six-game winning streak at the fair grounds last night when they absorbed their first defeat of the season at the hands of a snappy Agincourt team.

After Agincourt had scored five runs in the fourth inning, they sensed that they were elected to be the first squad to scuffle the prides of Newmarket. They did that by a score of nine runs to five, and registered a decisive win.

Stirling knocked in the first Agincourt run the last of the second inning. D. Lawrence, E. Shirland, J. Kennedy, B. Burwash and I. Stirling came in during the uproarious fifth inning, when the sacks were loaded four times by the visitors, and Ruby Chant, on the Newmarket pill-box, was made dizzy by the rapid changes in complexion which the game took.

Newmarket entered the picture on runs by Ruby Chant in the fourth and by Lois Manning, Chant and Mary Raymond in the fifth. Chant's blow in the fifth was a beautiful three-bagger over the right fielder's head. The locals completed their scoring with one run in the seventh.

Mae Brown, who went in for Rutledge in the fourth inning, suffered an injured knee when sliding into first base in the seventh inning. She had to be carried off the field and Mary McCannan did that good work.

On the night's play, Agincourt showed decided superiority and co-operated with the breaks that came along. They committed few errors in contrast to some bad fielding indulged in by Newmarket. Stirling pitched a steady game and knew just where to direct her shots.

The breaks simply were not breaking for the locals. However, the girls knew that 1,000

BARRIE BESTS REDS IN 7TH INNING RALLY

TWO STRONG PITCHERS
BATTLE TILL BARRIE
BATTERS STEP IN
SCORE IS 5-3

By RALPH M. ADAMS

Smashing through with two runs in the seventh, the Barrie Collegians defeated the local Redmen 5-3 last Thursday evening at the local park.

Cause, the hurler with the screwy delivery, held the Red team fairly well in check throughout the fiasco, while his mates came through with the punch at the plate when it was most needed. Until the seventh, the game was a real struggle between Cause and Webster, both great pitchers, and for once youth was served when the youthful northerner bested his more experienced rival.

Collegians Grab Lead

Marshall, blond shortstopper for the collegians, opened the game with a double that spelled a run. Norris, in the second slot, went out, Trivett to Peters, Marshall going to third. Coulson went out, Webster to Peters, with Marshall scoring on the play. Hines flied out to Hilton to end the inning.

Newmarket died in order to end the first, with Barrie doing likewise to start the second. Then the Reds came to life and tallied two runs to take the lead and make the score 2-1.

However, the Collegians hammered right back to score two counters in their third turn at bat. Thompson walked to open, Marshall singled and so did Norris, but Thompson was caught at third when Gibney made a beautiful peg to Trivett to nail the colored boy. Coulson struck out but Hines lapped a double to centre to score the two men on base, and Urry ended by flying out to Gibney. The locals died in order in their half of the third, the score standing Barrie 3 Newmarket 2.

Although the fourth was barren for the collegians, the Reds managed to come through with one marker to tie the count. Gibney opened the inning by whiffing but Peters singled. VanZant, who followed Peters, went out via the grounder route. Trivett corked a single through second base to score Peters and tie the game.

Belated Rally Cops Verdict
Both teams went out in order in the fifth and sixth frames, with both hurlers bearing down on every pitch and hits scarcer than hen's teeth.

Finally in the seventh the collegians broke out in a batting rash that spelled victory. Gracey, batting for Taylor, started the fireworks by slapping out a neat single. Thompson sent up a sacrifice fly to Gibney that advanced Gracey. Marshall flied out, Tomlinson and Norris cracked a triple to left centre, scoring Gracey and scored himself a moment later when Coulson singled to right. Hines flied to Webster to end the rally. The two counters were enough to win as the Reds passed away in order to end the game, with the score reading Barrie 5 Newmarket 3.

Barrie: Marshall ss, Norris cf, Coulson lf, Hines 3b, Urry c, Laking rf, Cause p, Taylor 2b, Thompson 1b, Gracey (batted for Taylor in seventh).
Newmarket: Giles 2b, Hilton ss, Cain cf, Tomlinson lf, Gibney rf, Peters 1b, VanZant c, Trivett 3b, Webster p.

Umpires: Forhan (plate) and Collingwood (bases).

TOWN GETS BACK INTO MONEY-LENDING CLASS

The town has paid off all obligations at the bank and prepaid its county levy of over $10,000. N. L. Mathews, K.C., clerk and treasurer, informed the town council Tuesday evening.

"We will get $219 in interest," Mr. Mathews said.

"Have you made sure that the county will accept it?" asked Reeve Fred A. Lundy.

"They can't accept prepayments from the southern municipalities and refuse ours," said Deputy-Reeve Joseph Vale.

"They passed a by-law enabling them to," said Mr. Lundy. "They are not going to accept money from us when they have enough already."

"If they refuse it we will make a big holler," said Mr. Mathews.

Soil Surveyors Are Innocent Of Fifth Column Activities

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE CONDUCTS SOIL SURVEY OF COUNTY

During the past week two members of the staff of the soils department of the Ontario Agricultural College have commenced a systematic soil survey of York county, working at present in the northern end of the county. This is the survey work requested by the county council as a supplement to the soil testing work started last year.

W. M. Cockburn, agricultural representative, bespeaks for these men the continued hearty co-operation they have received from the farmers so far visited. Some excited Newmarket boys went so far as to speak to the police about seeing these men digging holes (for soil analysis) and marking locations on maps, and suspected them of being fifth columnists. Mr. Cockburn therefore states that their car, bearing license No. 11R53, has been registered with the police of the district by A. S. Fleming and L. R. Webber, the men carrying on the survey with headquarters at the agricultural representative's office.

Softball President Calls Meeting To Plan Future

TWO TEAMS DROP OUT
AND THIRD CRIPPLED
BY LOSS OF MEN

Whether there will be a repeat series in the York-Simcoe softball league or whether the play-offs will start immediately, has not yet been decided.

Fans are hoping that the decision will be against the play-offs at this early date. There is plenty of time, it is said, for another series like the one already played and the play-offs too.

The decision will lie with the York-Simcoe executive, of which J. L. Spillette of Newmarket is president.

President Spillette has called a league meeting for Friday evening in Newmarket. Mldhurst and R.C.A.F.

War Does Not Shake Quaker Faith In Peace Philosophy

PEACE IS THEME OF FRIENDS
MEETING AT PICKERING COLLEGE

"We should not feel superior today because we have always taught and believed in peace," G. Raymond Booth, Toronto, told Friends at the yearly meeting at Pickering College over the weekend.

Humility should be practised, declared Mr. Booth, whose remarks were echoed by other speakers.

Distinguished speakers from Canada and the United States were present, with peace as a way of living and thinking the keynote.

DR. W. O. NOBLE IS
WED IN TORONTO

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Willson Chisholm, 279 Durie Ave., Toronto, on Saturday, June 29, their daughter, Helen Margaret, became the bride of Dr. William Otis Noble of Newmarket, son of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Noble of Whitby. Rev. Dr. Murdoch MacKinnon officiated. Miss Ruth McCullough played the wedding music, and the soloist was Mr. Richard Bowles.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a frock of sky blue crepe with knife-pleated marquisette panel, matching hat trimmed with pleated ribbon, and corsage of pink sweet peas. Mrs. John McBean was matron of honor for her sister, wearing a gown of navy sheer, matching off-the-face hat and corsage of marguerites. Mr. John McBean of Kirkland Lake was groomsmen.

A reception followed, and later Dr. Noble and his bride left by motor for the Gaspé Peninsula. They will live in Newmarket.

CANADIAN CHAMPION
TEACHES CIVIL GUARD

Canadian revolver champion, Ivan Flatman, Toronto, gave a demonstration and lecture on pistol marksmanship to Newmarket's newly formed volunteer civil guard at the revolver range at Glenview last evening. A good turn-out was present for the demonstration and practice. Mr. Flatman also instructs soldiers in the use of the revolver.

YORK RANGERS WANT RECRUITS FROM COUNTY

COL. MERRICK OFFERS TO TRAIN MEN FROM YORK COUNTY

TRAIN IN TORONTO

Announcement has been made by Lt.-Col. R. C. Merrick, M.C., officer commanding the Queen's York Rangers (1st American Regiment) (M.G.) that facilities will be given to those in York county who desire to train with this unit.

Platoons are now being organized in various centres in the county and transportation will be provided for the men to and from Fort York armory, Toronto, where parades are held each Wednesday evening.

The Queen's York Rangers have been authorized to recruit to war-time strength and although the establishment is being rapidly completed, Colonel Merrick is desirous of adequate representation from the county whose name the regiment bears and whose history is so closely interwoven with the history of York county.

While primarily a machine-gun unit, the regiment's program of training will include normal infantry training, use of the light automatic, defence against aircraft and gas, first-aid work and signalling.

While the Queen's York Rangers are still a unit of the non-permanent active militia, a number of drafts have volunteered for service with the Canadian Active Service Force.

Volunteers may leave their names with The Era.

AURORA WINS 5-2 AGAINST NEWMARKET

Because Newmarket's clay courts were not dry enough for play, their home game against Aurora was played in Aurora on Wednesday evening of last week. It was the second game of the York-Simcoe tennis league and the second win for Aurora, with a total of 5-2 in the seven matches.

Scores were: men's A singles, Lees Owrain, Aurora, defeated Arnold Molyneux, Newmarket, 3-6, 6-0, 6-1; men's B singles, W. Barnard, Aurora, defeated T. B. Scott, Newmarket, 6-1, 6-2; men's B doubles, D. Babcock and S. Walker, Aurora, defeated Jack Choppin and Dr. J. G. Cock, Newmarket, 6-3, 6-3.

Men's A doubles: T. B. Scott and N. L. Mathews, Newmarket, defeated L. Owrain and W. Barnard, Aurora, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3. Newmarket won the mixed doubles when A. Cooper and C. Willis, Aurora, were defeated by Arnold Molyneux and Alberta Simpson, Newmarket, 8-7, 0-6, 7-5. Aurora won the ladies' singles when H. Calhoun, Aurora, defeated Lillis Bond, Newmarket, 6-0, 7-5.

In the ladies' doubles Mae Fry and C. Willis, Aurora, defeated B. Lyons and A. Simpson, Newmarket, 8-7, 6-3.

RETIRED FARMER DIES IN 75TH YEAR

Ill only two days, Charles Theakston, Gorham St., died at York county hospital on Saturday from a heart attack. He was a retired farmer and in his 75th year.

He was engaged in farming for many years in East Gwillimbury township and for a short time near Brampton and retired in 1921, coming to Newmarket to live.

His wife, the former Elizabeth McGowan, died Jan. 27, 1939. They had been married 42 years. They had three children: Mrs. Theakston was the last of a family of 13.

The funeral service, conducted by Dr. D. McIntyre, was held from the chapel of Roadhouse and Rose on Tuesday, with interment in Queensville cemetery. Pallbearers were: Ford Wilson, Fred Simpson, Jos. Smith, Thos. Niles, Wm. Black and Walter Perrin.

WATER IS SATISFACTORY FROM HEALTH STANDPOINT

An analysis of the Green Lane test-hole water was before the town council on Tuesday evening. "The water is not contaminated from the river nearby, but the chemical analysis is not perfect yet because the water is not cleared up," said Mayor Dr. S. J. Boyd.

Newmarket Boy Ties For 1st In Cornet Solo Class

Two Bands Capture First Place With Gold Medal Honors

DAY IS SERIES OF TRIUMPHS
FOR NEWMARKET'S
MUSICIANS

R. S. A. WINS TWICE

Newmarket triumphed at the Waterloo band festival on Saturday. The Citizens' band took a first. The R.S.A. bugle band took two firsts.

Don Cribar of the Citizens' band, in a class of 26 competitors, under 14 years, was tied for first and won a gold medal for the cornet. Aubrey Bailey, in a class of six competitors, won first and a gold medal with 87 points for the alto saxophone.

Members of the R.S.A. bugle band taking part in individual competitions did not receive their ratings at the time.

The Citizens' band was given the high rating of 89½ points. The Newmarket band faced competition from the finest military bands in the province.

R.S.A. bugle band won class 1 (harmony) for trumpet bands with 93 points, a Hamilton "kittie" band placing second with

PARKING SCHEME
IS IN ABEYANCE

Nothing has been done about the proposed alternate parking on Main St. due to lack of agreement among the various parties concerned. The Era is informed. A proposal made by the board of trade and approved by the town council was to have parking on one side of the street one week and on the other side the following week from Timothy St. to Millard Ave. The plan also called for the provision of lighted, supervised, free parking at the market square.

89 points, and the third band getting 84 points. The Newmarket boys also won class 2 for trumpet bands, a large class, with 94 points, Guelph Veterans' band placing second with 88 points.

The bugle band also was honored with a place in the evening pageant.

The bugle band was led by James Bradford, Toronto, and the Citizens' band by Robert Moore, Aurora.

Mrs. Davis Leaves Mark On Community, Service Today

DIES IN NEW YORK HOTEL
ON TUESDAY OF HEART ATTACK

A woman who had by her loveliness and leadership made a large place for herself in this community and in the hearts of all its citizens, Mrs. Aubrey Davis died of a heart attack in a New York hotel early Tuesday morning, far from the home and town she loved so well. She was in her 63rd year.

Mrs. Davis had left on Friday night for New York, taking her niece, Miss Barbara Davis, to a summer dramatic and dancing school. They had spent the weekend together and on Monday Mrs. Davis took her niece to the school situated outside New York. She was well and in touch with friends on Monday evening. The fatal attack came some hours after she had retired.

She leaves her husband, Aubrey Davis, president of the Davis Leather Co., one son, Bruce P., Toronto barrister, two daughters, Mary R. and Catherine, at home, and one sister, Mrs. A. D. Stewart, Fort William.

Funeral services took place this afternoon. G. H. Charleton, First Reader, First Church of Christ Scientist, Toronto, which she attended, conducted a service at the residence, Millard Ave., and Rev. Dr. T. W. Neal, former pastor of Trinity United church, Newmarket, conducted a service at the cemetery.

Honorary pallbearers were a group of personal friends: Robert Fennell, K.C., Toronto, John R. Rumball, Toronto, Senator Duncan Marshall, Toronto, Heber Little, Guelph, Arthur Holden, Toronto, W. A. Hamilton, Toronto, Sheriff W. H. S. Cane, Toronto, John R. Lambie, Toronto, president of the Bank of Toronto.

Active pallbearers were from among the oldest employees of the Davis Leather Co., all with about 30 years service: James Cullen, John Kyle, Ernest Faircy, Frank Smith, Alfred Smith, Wm. Lawson.

Etta Pettit was born near Strathroy, the daughter of Richard Pettit, and had been teaching school in King at the time of her marriage in 1902.

All through the years of her residence in Newmarket Mrs. Davis has been the lady bountiful whenever there was anyone in need. Her help and thoughtfulness were particularly appreciated during the years before public bodies recognized responsibility for the results of unemployment.

Probably Mrs. Davis' greatest contribution to Newmarket has been cultural. In early years she was active in the organization of a music and dramatic club. She has provided dramatic and dancing instruction for her

LIONS PARK SHOWS
RESULTS OF WORK

The Lions club park is beginning to look like an asset to the town. Great stretches of neatly-mown grass, hundreds of young trees digging in their roots, gravel walks and children playing on the sward indicate that the park will become increasingly lovely as the years go by.

REDMEN WILL HELP RED CROSS FUNDS

Newmarket Redmen will make an exhibition appearance at Sharon Park next Wednesday, July 10, in the interests of East Gwillimbury Red Cross. Their opponents will be a softball squad made up of N. H. L. hockey stars.

The East Gwillimbury Red Cross is advertising a "Newmarket gold medal band" in attendance and a first-class program of tap dancing, acrobatic stunts, solos and comic selections.

ONE NEPHEW IS KILLED ANOTHER IS WOUNDED

Rev. A. J. Patstone received word this week that one nephew had been killed and another wounded, both on active service. Kenneth Burrows, 20, with the Royal Engineers, was killed by a German bomb while helping to evacuate troops at Dunkirk. Arthur Patstone, 25, driving an ambulance, was slightly wounded in a skirmish in Palestine.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE

The dominion house of commons has passed a resolution asking the British parliament to amend the British North America Act to give the dominion parliament power to deal with unemployment insurance. Unemployment insurance will be quite a nice thing for the worker in normal times. If he should be out of work for a few weeks the insurance scheme will take care of him (up to six weeks, we believe, under the United Kingdom scheme). In time of depression the scheme will not help the individual very much. He will have six weeks of insurance benefits and, then, as soon as his other liquid assets are exhausted, he will have to go on relief. However, unemployment insurance will be a help to the nation even in time of depression, for it will mean the saving of money in good times to spend in bad times.

The resolution with regard to unemployment insurance has additional significance. It indicates that the government has no intention of doing anything about the Rowell-Sirois report on dominion-provincial relations at the present session of parliament. We have not studied the report, but we believe it calls for a sweeping redistribution of dominion and provincial powers, which would have to be brought about by amendment of the British North America Act.

It strikes us that the dominion government would be wiser to ask for a final amendment to the act which would give Canadians the power to change their own constitution as they wished. The Commonwealth of Australia Act will never need to be amended by the British parliament, for it contains provision for amendment of the Australian constitution by the Australian people themselves. The senior dominion lags loyally behind.

THE NEIGHBOR'S GARDEN

As people have gardens as much for the benefit of friends, neighbors and even strangers as for their own enjoyment, we took a random walk one evening last week. Starting off from The Era office we headed west on Millard Ave., north on Raglan, west on Queen, north on Niagara, east on Ontario, across Main St., north on Superior, where we saw a fine roadside garden planted by a public-spirited citizen living on the other side of the street, and east on Huron St.

Let's stop for breath. We saw dozens of lovely gardens and inviting lawns in this first part of our journey. It was interesting to think that one could turn at random upon almost any street and still find beautiful gardens. Continuing on Huron St. east of the tracks we noted elms and maples which the Horticultural society put in recently. These trees seem to be doing well and in a few years will make a tremendous difference to what is at present a bare piece of street.

At Prospect St. we came to the beautiful, towering trees which are a monument to an earlier generation of Canes. We went on as far as F. H. Hewson's and Lawrie Cane's beautiful gardens, and then turned north up Bolton Ave. and across a back street to Lundy Lane and south on Prospect and so home.

HITLER AND NAPOLEON

Repeated reference is made these days to the career of Napoleon. It seemed hardly the thing, while France fought as an ally of Britain, to compare Hitler with Napoleon, but now we may presume that the comparisons will become more frequent. At the moment, with Hitler an active enemy, comparisons must be favorable to Napoleon, although history may put them down as two of a kind. We can hope for one point of resemblance at least between their careers—final defeat and ignominy.

Winston Churchill declared when the Nazis invaded Denmark and Norway that Hitler had made as great an error as Napoleon did when he invaded Spain. The outcome of Hitler's Norwegian adventure is a warning to us that conditions have changed greatly since the day of Napoleon and not to base our prophecies for this war on what happened in sabre and musket times of over a century ago. With that in mind, it is interesting, and even helpful in understanding what is going on today, to recall a few points of Napoleon's career.

Napoleon's motives, according to historians, were selfish and egotistic, although he incidentally did some good things. He was more interested in Napoleon than he was in France. Following on the heels of the French revolution, he established a lasting code of law and he set up a French educational system. He contributed greatly to the ultimate unification of both Italy and (ironically) Germany.

It is not clear yet as to whether Hitler is motivated by patriotism, egotism or just insanity, but it is still conceivable that history will credit him with some good things. Perhaps he may be instrumental in bringing about, though at fearful cost, the eventual unification of continental Europe. Possibly historians may credit him with making the modern state economically efficient. Certainly he has amazed dollar-minded people with the military might he has produced in a supposedly bankrupt nation.

Like Hitler, Napoleon was an Austrian. As a young officer in the French army, Napoleon schemed, unsuccessfully, for Corsican independence.

Like Hitler, Napoleon was thrown up by the times in which he lived. Hitler didn't make the world war which eventually brought him to power. Napoleon didn't arrange the French revolution; he inherited it.

Napoleon fought battles for the same reason that Hitler fights them. He had to do something to maintain his popularity. The French people believed that when Napoleon conquered other countries and set up republican governments he was spreading the liberty, equality and fraternity of the revolution, just as the German people today believe that they are spreading Germanic or Nazi culture. As a matter of fact, Napoleon was busy destroying democracy at home at the same time that he was overthrowing the monarchs and dukes who ruled over Europe's hundreds of states, to set up larger republics instead. But he had no real interest in democracy and didn't hesitate to destroy the democracy of France or of some of the Italian city states.

Napoleon, like Hitler, maintained that England, with her blockade, forced him to invade unoffending countries of the continent. Napoleon attempted a counter-blockade against England. He forbade continental countries to deal with England. But there was an interesting difference between the blockade of those days and the blockade of today. Napoleon was not concerned to prevent continental goods reaching England, but to prevent English goods reaching the continent. Likewise, England licensed neutrals to carry goods to the continent if they could, but refused to accept goods from France. The game was to create an unfavorable balance of trade for your enemy. If you could do that, your enemy would have to pay out his gold and eventually bankrupt himself.

Today the blockaders do just the opposite. They take any goods they can get from the other fellow, and try to see that the other fellow gets as few as possible. In other words, the modern blockader tries to starve the other fellow, and would rather he have gold than food.

On the whole, however, the war, 25 years of it, which ended at Waterloo in 1815 was amazingly like the war today. Napoleon dreamt of world power. He even planned an invasion of England, until his fleet was destroyed at Trafalgar. Moore (like Gort at Dunkirk) embarked a British army at Corunna under the fire of the French army, remaining behind himself mortally wounded. "Not a drum was heard, not a funeral note," as they "left him alone with his glory." French privateers took a toll on British and neutral shipping (trading with England) just as the German submarines do today. The United States tried to stay out of the war, and passed an Embargo Act, similar in purpose to the present-day Neutrality Act, forbidding trade with foreign nations. Finally, the United States came into the war against England, which proved slower than France in meeting U.S. demands for better treatment of her shipping.

Napoleon lacked airplanes, telephone, radio, mechanized divisions to keep France and Europe in order. As fast as he moved from one place to another, rebellion and trouble sprang up behind him. Willy Prussia, held by Napoleon to an army of 42,000 men, obeyed the letter of the command but did not stick to the same 42,000 men. The result was an army of four times that size ready to help England trim Napoleon at Waterloo.

Like Hitler, Napoleon did not hesitate to destroy those who had helped to give him power, and he believed that ruthlessness strengthened his position. If Napoleon lived and ruled today he would be considered a monster, but he has been judged as the successor of the bloody revolutionists and as a contemporary of legislators and jurists who believed in the death sentence for theft. Hitler will be judged by higher standards, and more harshly, but the future's judgment may be modified by his economic achievements (unfortunately used to build armaments instead of the people's welfare).

Napoleon fell, not because his ambitions for France were less legitimate than England's, but because of his disregard for human life and his ruthless resort to war, against the offensive and the inoffensive. Hitler will fall too, not because Germans have any less a claim than British people to a place in the sun, but because of the reckless persecution of his fellow-countrymen with which he has achieved and held power and because of the wanton and savage use of war as a means of achieving his objects. He will fall because as a dictator he must rely on force.

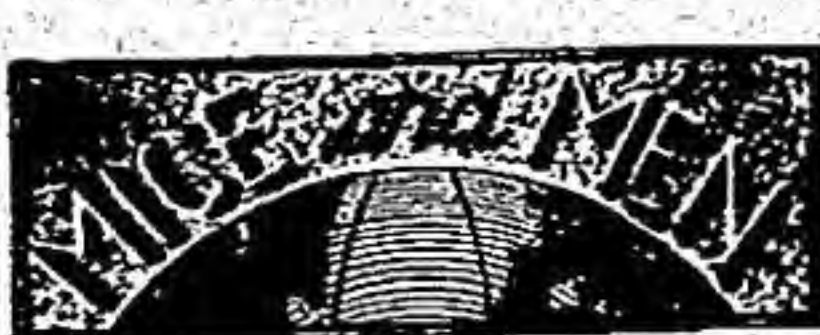

Unfortunately, when Napoleon fell, the Bourbons, the leaders of reaction, took charge in the many countries of which Napoleon had been overlord, and we can hardly hope that when we bring about the fall of Hitler we will be able to keep the reactionaries away from the peace table. They were there in 1919. It will happen again, but we may hope, with the last 20 years of experience as our guide, that the Bourbons will be less influential than they were at Versailles.

HANDSOME NEW HIGHWAY

The seeming mistake of the new fourth concession county road in turning west at Bogart-town to the third concession may help Newmarket somewhat. It did look as though the new road going up the fourth concession would divert a substantial portion of Simcoe and Haliburton traffic away from Newmarket, but now it turns out that the Toronto and York Roads Commission, by and with the consent and approval of the provincial department of highways, is going to divert this traffic back to within sight of Newmarket and within a mile and a quarter of the shopping district.

The town will need to erect a sign at the corner of the third and Gormham St. giving the distance to Newmarket Main St. Incidentally, the sign on the Triangle service station at Eagle and Yonge Sts. always hit us in the eye, from the time we first started coming to Newmarket, and we hate to see it discarded.

A sign at Gormham and the third and at Huron and the third will be necessities when the new traffic route is completed. One cannot but wonder, however, at the engineering mind which takes traffic out of Toronto from the east, brings it straight north for 20 miles and then brings it west again to join up with the narrow little over-loaded Sharon-Keswick highway, already noted for its accidents. Surely it would be just as cheap to complete a new route up the fourth north of Queensville and then northeast along the cattering road through Ravenshoe to Sutton, as to widen the Sharon-Keswick highway. That would be a new and pretty drive and a shorter route to Sutton, Jackson's Point and points east than the present route. Perhaps that will come eventually, and in the meantime the joining of the fourth and the third is being done handsomely with sweeping curves that leave two farms where previously there was but one. Its magnificence is reminiscent of the Queen Elizabeth highway—perhaps cloverleaf intersections will come later!

Russian planes dropped armor tanks at the garrisoned port of Rani in Rumania on Sunday. The Russians also used parachute troops.

A ship-load of Nazis, prisoners of war, arrived at Montreal on Sunday. They will be imprisoned in Canada for the duration of the war.

A fleet of German bombers arrived at a central Rumanian airport on Monday. This was taken as an indication that Germany would help Rumania in settlement of border disputes with Hungary and Bulgaria.

Rumanian troops bitterly contested Russian advances. The Russians withdrew from positions across the Prut river, stating that their troops had gone beyond Bessarabia in error.

British and German bombers have kept up daily raids on each other's countries. The British reported heavy damage to German oil supplies, but refused to admit that the Germans had inflicted any considerable damage to military objectives in Britain.

Marshal Italo Balbo, governor of Italian Libya in northern Africa, who was in command of a flight of Italian planes to this continent some years ago, is reported to have died in battle with the R. A. F. London denied this, hinting that Balbo had been "liquidated" by Mussolini.

Germans have occupied the British islands in the English channel, Jersey and Guernsey, following British evacuation. There was no additional military advantage to the Germans, London said.

Uncle Sam placed orders for 45 new warships at a cost of about $500,000,000 on Monday.

Britain is worried about Eire. As a neutral country Eire cannot admit Allied troops, but the Eire government is known to be apprehensive about German invasion. There are British troops in northern Ireland, but it is feared in London that they might not be welcomed by the Irish even in case of need. Another plan is to have French, Polish and Czech troops in readiness in Ulster in case the Irish ask assistance.

NUTTY NUTHATCH GETS A LECTURE

BY RUTH DINGMAN HEBB

"Everywhere you turn these days there seems to be some young plump, fluffy little bird balanced precariously on a branch or post," Goldie Goldfinch told Nutty Nuthatch. "It's a great time of year for the cats."

"Yes, there are certainly lots of young birds around, but yours aren't among them," said Nutty. "Don't you feel jealous of me? We have seven young hopefuls just learning to fly. Two of them are still up in the nest, but the rest have ventured out very bravely. 'Why should I be jealous of you?' inquired the beautiful Goldfinch. 'We have the dearest nest you ever saw, beautifully made on the outside and lined with plant down. And we have five pretty, greenish white eggs. Some of the Goldfinches wait till even later than this to lay their eggs. They like to wait for the thistle-down to line their nests with. However, we have been quite prompt this year.'

"I don't think this late nesting is a good idea," Nutty told him. "because when the other birds are beginning to be carefree again, and the young ones are able to look after themselves, you are just hatching out your eggs, and have all the work of raising your family before you."

"That's true enough," agreed Goldie, "but on the other hand we are frolicking about in the beautiful spring sunshine when you are staying strictly at home worrying about your nest and your eggs."

"Oh, I let my wife do the worrying about them," said Nutty airily. "That's what you say, but I'll bet you do your share too," scoffed the Goldfinch. "Just look at those young squirrels playing around those trees. I suppose their parents will have a second brood this month."

"Yes, and the Robins will, too," said Nutty. "It just doesn't seem possible that we are into July already."

"I wonder when we are going to get some warm weather," sighed Goldie. "I certainly love the hot, sunny summer days. I like to sit about in the pastures and light on the big purple thistles."

"You make a very pretty picture when you do," said Nutty graciously. "I'd like to talk longer but I think perhaps Hattie might be needing me to help her with the children. It's quite a job to keep an eye on the whole lot of them at once, you know."

"Well, my love," Nutty chirped to Hattie, his mate, as he landed on the tree trunk where his home was situated. "how did you get along while I had a little fly out to the edge of the woods? Everything all right?"

"All right," Hattie fairly choked with indignation. "Everything's absolutely all wrong! I can't think what possessed you to stay away so long. I'm at my wits' end, I really am. And to cap the climax, Young Chimps, the Chickadees, just came alone and asked if you would go with him on a little jaunt up to the lake—just for a change, he said."

"Why, that's a delightful idea," said Nutty enthusiastically. "Did you say I'd be right over?"

"No, I said you couldn't think of going at a time like this," snapped Hattie, and dug her bill viciously into the bark of the tree trunk to give vent to her feelings. "He's gone and he won't be back for a while, either, not after what I said to him. And now, I'd be obliged if you'd help me a little bit instead of standing there staring at me with your bill open in that stupid way."

"I'll just give you an idea of what has been happening," Hattie went on, warming to her subject. "First of all, Jimmy, who has been afraid to leave the nest all this time, decided he would fall out this afternoon, and I nearly had heart failure. He just tumbled out of the tree trunk 'ooway' and he managed to cling to the bark of the tree just as I had decided that he was going to fall to the ground."

and be killed, or else hit his head so hard that he would be permanently knocked senseless.

"Then, the five who are out of the nest seemed to be everywhere at once and they just wouldn't listen to what I said at all. They are getting so venturesome! In fact, Chubby insisted on flying over toward the ravine, and Tiny has been practising going head foremost down the tree trunks in an absolutely reckless manner. And, in addition to all this, I'm quite certain I heard a cat meowing over in the direction of those cedar trees. And, oh yes, Mrs. Phoebe has kept up such a steady calling 'fee-be, fee-be' all afternoon, that I really thought I'd go over and give her a peek or two."

"And then you come along in that breezy, carefree manner," she added. "It's too much."

"I can see that, my dear," said Nutty almost humbly. "You must have had a trying time. Now just calm yourself and everything will be fine. I'll go and hunt for Chubby and I'll speak firmly to Tiny and I'll tell them all that there's got to be more co-operation with their mother around this joint."

"Just start with yourself then, will you," rejoined Hattie crisply. "And that means sticking around home a little more. And now go ahead and check up on the children."

NEED HOMES FOR CHILDREN'S HOLIDAYS

The Neighborhood Workers Association of Toronto has again opened its country home department, and plans to send as many children as possible out of town during the hot summer months. Last year more than 1,250 children got unexpected holidays in the country through this medium. This year the need for vacations in many homes is more urgent than ever. Many homes are undergoing severe strain through the absence of husbands and sons giving war service.

The country home department has only been open one week, but to date 204 applications have been received from mothers who are desperately anxious to send one or two members of their family away for a holiday. There is Mary's mother, for instance. She expects to go to the hospital this month and she's very worried about 11-year-old Mary. If only Mary could be sent to the country, about June 24, for two weeks holiday. Mary's father is overseas with the Toronto Scottish.

There are six brothers and sisters in the family—but Mary is the one who really needs the holiday. She has to have her tonsils out some time this summer, but before this happens she must have a quiet rest and some good nourishing food. If Mary could be looked after in some big, green, country home, her mother would rest much more easily in her hospital bed.

Seventy-four country hostesses who took children last year have already written to the Neighborhood Workers Association asking if they might have the same children back this year. But at least 1,000 invitations will be required to take care of the vast throng of little ones that should be sent out of town this summer.

The families on the Neighborhood Workers Association list are not all soldiers' families, of course. There are many homes where poverty, illness and trouble have caused great distress through the long winter. There will be some soldiers' families hoping for holiday aid from the Neighborhood Workers Association, because auxiliaries of many of the regiments are working in close co-operation with this agency.

During the summer months here is one way women who live within a radius of 150 miles from Toronto can help. Send a letter to the Country Homes Department, Neighborhood Workers Association, 22 Wellesley St. Toronto. State clearly when it would be convenient for you to take one or two children into your home. Tell what age and sex you prefer and enclose a brief letter from your local clergyman. The organization assumes responsibility for transportation, but no remuneration is offered.

TWO WEEKLIES MERGE

The Dunnville Chronicle and the Dunnville Gazette have announced the purchase of the latter newspaper by the former, which is published by the famous "Bill" Fry of amateur athletics activity. In the following statements the publishers tell the reasons which led to this decision.

TO READERS OF THE CHRONICLE

This is to announce that on Wednesday of this week, June 26, The Chronicle acquired the Dunnville Gazette goodwill and business as a going concern, and henceforth The Chronicle will continue to serve the public alone in the local field.

During the past ten years many changes have taken place in the newspaper business throughout Canada, and particularly in the province of Ontario. They began first in the daily field, where through mergers, most of the cities are now represented by only one paper. That is the situation in such cities as Belleville, Brantford, Brockville, Chatham, Fort William, Galt, Guelph, Hamilton, Kingston, Kitchener, Lindsay, London, Niagara Falls, Oshawa, Owen Sound, Peterborough, Port Arthur, Port Hope, Sarnia, St. Catharines, St. Thomas, Sault Ste. Marie, Stratford, Timmins, Welland, Windsor and Woodstock. Only in the cities of Ottawa and Toronto are there two papers. Then later, in London, with a population of about 75,000 the Free Press absorbed the Advertiser, and in Hamilton, with a population of about 175,000, the Spectator absorbed the Herald. Even in Toronto, with a population of about 650,000, the two great metropolitan morning dailies, the Globe, and the Mail & Empire, amalgamated.

During the same period, gradually but permanently rising costs of publication made it inevitable that the weeklies would follow suit, and today there is only one in former two-paper towns like Arthur, Blenheim, Bowmanville, Bradford, Clinton, Collingwood, Delhi, Exeter, Fergus, Fort Erie, Grand Valley, Leamington, Markham, Millbrook, Pembroke, Petrolia, Rodney, St. Mary's, Shelburne, Smith's Falls, Stirling, Strathroy, Thornbury, Walkerton, Watford, Weston, Whitby, Wingham, Tillsonburg, Simcoe and others.

In fact, the great majority of towns in Canada are now served by only one weekly. The days of most town papers—one supporting the Conservative party and the other supporting the Liberal party—are gone forever. Public opinion forced the change when it was finally realized that the cost to the people for a duplicated dissemination of almost the identically same local news service in smaller communities was an economic waste of money by subscribers and advertisers alike.

With divided support, the publishers themselves came to recognize the futility of trying to continue on the old lines—if they were to function creditably as show windows reflecting the true merits of their towns, and it did not take them long to remedy the situation, many mergers becoming rapidly effected.

In Dunnville the late David Hastings, publisher of The Gazette, one of the best known and most outstanding provincial journalists, and the publisher of The Chronicle, both printers of the older school, who had been friendly competitors yet close personal friends for over 25 years, seriously discussed the local situation on more than one occasion prior to the former's death in 1938, in hopes of finding a way out, both definitely agreed that under present-day conditions Dunnville was at best only a one newspaper town, if the high standards of the past were to be maintained. Recently after further conference, Mrs. Hastings decided to solve the problem by volunteering to sell The Gazette to The Chronicle.

During the past two years, her elder son, Fred C. Hastings, has shown marked ability as a constructive editorial writer, and we predict a bright future for him if he decides to continue in newspaper work. Associated with him in the business management of the paper was his brother, Edward G. Hastings.

As for The Chronicle, which is to continue in the field—for 44 years it has striven to boost Dunnville. It is "Old Bill's" own baby, having been established brand new by him in 1896, and few indeed are the weeklies in Ontario that were founded by their present publishers. The Chronicle's motto all these years has been, "Be Loyal to Your Own Community," and in continuing that policy of loyalty and our responsibilities to its past history, we shall also be loyal to the responsibilities passed to us through the memory of the late Charles E. S. Black, the late Robert White and the late David Hastings, former editors and proprietors of The Gazette, by whom we have been thrown the torch to carry on and continue to build on the journalistic foundation so well and truly laid by them. An added interest—sentimental rather than business—surrounds this purchase, because it was on The Gazette 51 years ago that I became a "printer's devil" apprentice, and started to learn the newspaper and job printing business.

As regards Mrs. Hastings, naturally it will not be without regret that she sees the paper which was the pride of her late esteemed husband pass into other hands, and for that reason we shall try and keep the standard high. In the meantime, I wish her many years of happiness throughout the evening of her life, and I hope her two sons of a grand sire each gains a place in the world worthy of his talents.

THE DUNNVILLE GAZETTE CEASES PUBLICATION

A long and honorable chapter in newspaper history in the county of Haldimand is concluded with this, the final issue of The Dunnville Gazette. From August, 1851, to the present month, through all the changing tides of time and circumstance, under editors who had always the interests of this community at heart and were genuinely concerned as to its progress and successful growth, The Gazette has endeavored to serve its readers and the public generally with faithfulness and zeal. The speed of present-day news facilities, the spread of influence of the daily newspapers and the increasing prominence of radio as a news distributor, have done much to usurp the prerogatives which formerly the home town weeklies regarded as their own. The trend in news dissemination, as in many other fields, is to large scale production and centralized control of distribution, and the home town papers find their scope more rigorously limited with the passage of time. All these factors create a situation which in recent years has brought about the amalgamation of many Ontario weeklies, and The Gazette is but following the trend of an economic cycle in thus merging its identity with that of The Dunnville Chronicle.

In August, 1851, at the county town of Cayuga, Dr. Thomas S. Harrison of Selkirk and Thomas L. M. Tipton of Dunnville produced the first issue of The Independent, pioneer venture in journalism in the county of Haldimand. For reasons which appear to be lost in the mists of antiquity, the plant and equipment were moved to Dunnville after that first issue, and the publication was continued here by its founders until L. J. Weatherby and Arr. Brownson acquired the paper in 1852. They sold in 1859 to Messrs. Hanlan and Henry, who later sold to Samuel Amsden. On his death in 1866, Thomas Messenger acquired title and continued the publication under the name, The Luminary.

In 1871, C. E. S. Black purchased the plant and goodwill, and altered the name to The Dunnville Gazette. Incidentally William Hamilton of Dunnville has been a continuous subscriber since that first issue. In March, 1883, Robert White took over the paper and continued it until his death

SEVEN YEARS GIVEN FOR HOUSE-BREAKING

"It is quite evident that you have made up your mind to a life of crime. Therefore it is my duty to put you away for a good time to protect the public against you." Magistrate H. R. Polson made this declaration in sentencing James Thompson to seven years in Kingston penitentiary, for breaking and entering the home of Frank Griffith, of Aurora, in Newmarket police court Tuesday.

Chief Constable Fisher Dunham, of Aurora, who investigated the robbery, stated that a gold watch valued at $50 and $38 in cash had been stolen.

"Mr. Griffith came to my place and reported that his house had been broken into," testified Constable Dunham. "He said that he had seen a man in the house. On investigating, I discovered the theft of these articles. The man had got in through the back door."

County Constable Barraclough, who arrested the accused man, also gave evidence. "After investigation of this robbery, I went to Milton and questioned the accused. He had a watch in his possession. We could make out Frank Griffith's name on the watch."

"Did you recover anything besides the watch?" asked Crown-Attorney N. L. Mathews, K.C.

"No. Constable Dunham had found $18 that same night on an Aurora street in a bank book. This was part of the $38 taken that night."

Mr. Mathews stated that there was not sufficient evidence to link a break-in at the home of Dr. G. W. Williams, of Aurora, which occurred that same night, with the robbery of Griffith's home. He read a lengthy list of previous and serious offences committed by the accused.

"You could receive a life sentence for breaking and entering," said His Worship. He added that the sentence would run concurrently with a sentence of five years in Kingston imposed on the accused in Milton police court last week.

A Newmarket youth was remanded one week for sentence on two charges of theft by Ross Caradonna and H. J. Luck, Newmarket merchants. Both merchants stated that the accused had several times failed to return all money received from his collections.

Chief Constable Sloss said that the accused had come to him voluntarily to speak of the matter. "I questioned the boy and he said that he had spent some of this money, but wasn't sure how much. He said that he figured it was coming to him."

The accused testified that he had been employed by Ross Caradonna as a delivery boy and was to work nine hours a day, Friday and Saturday nights and was to receive $9 a week. "But I worked 72 hours a week," he added. He admitted the theft of $3, but said, "I figured I had it coming."

"I think it has been amply proved that the accused did take the money," declared Crown-Attorney Mathews. "The merchants have enough trouble now to make a living. I think it must have been deliberate."

"I have formed, from the evidence of Mr. Caradonna, the opinion that it is a careless arrangement that allowed this boy to deduct shortages from his wages." His Worship declared. "It doesn't take much to blacken a boy's life on such flimsy evidence."

Gerald Brady, of Newmarket, who was involved in an accident with Andrew Carrick, Gorham St. on June 19, when their cars collided at the Lorne Ave. and Eagle St. intersection, was fined $10 and costs on a charge of careless driving laid by Constable Sloss.

Mr. Carrick stated that the road had been in good condition the night of the accident. "When I saw the accused, he was six to eight feet from me coming across Eagle St. He was going in a south-southeasterly direction with intention to make a left-hand turn. I skidded about eight feet with the brakes locked. I couldn't turn into the opposite lane of traffic, so I had to crash. My wife sustained a serious injury on the neck. She is still suffering very much from the effects."

Chief Constable James Sloss testified that he had investigated the accident. "There were tire marks where both cars skidded," he declared. "Mrs. Carrick fell out of the car after the impact. Brady stated that he had stopped at Lorne Ave., but didn't see the other car. I tested his brakes, which were bad."

"I stopped and looked both ways at the stop sign," testified the accused. "I started again slowly, but by the time I saw the other car I couldn't do anything."

"Holding back at the stop-sign isn't sufficient," declared His Worship when informed that the stop-sign was over 20 feet from the highway. "That is one of the most prolific causes of accidents. You are not supposed to stop back of a stop-sign, but where you can see the oncoming cars."

Charged with speeding, Leslie G. Evans of Toronto was fined $5 and costs, Bert Beamish of Toronto $5 and costs, and Nina D. Beattie of Toronto $8 and costs. Constable Dunham, Aurora, laid the charges.

Lawrence F. Brown of Toronto, John S. Ellis of Toronto and John Labatt Ltd. of London were fined $5 and costs on a charge of speeding brought by Constable Hill. George Billings of Kettleby, charged with careless driving, Constable Fleury, was fined $5 and costs.

HOLLAND LANDING DEPARTING MINISTER IS GIVEN PRESENTS

The ladies of Holland Landing United church gathered on Tuesday afternoon, June 25, to honor Rev. and Mrs. Harold Vaughan, who are leaving for their new pastorate in Owen Sound.

A devotional service was led by the president of the W. A., Mrs. W. Pegg. The guests of honor were seated at the front and addresses were read expressing appreciation of their services and good wishes. On behalf of the W. A. Mrs. M. Evans presented Mrs. Vaughan with a set of bedroom electric lamps and from the congregation Mrs. W. C. McCallum presented Mr. Vaughan with a handsome occasional chair. Mr. Vaughan responded in his usual easy and pleasing manner, commenting briefly on the work of Holland Landing and the pleasing associations.

A social hour and a delicious lunch were much enjoyed.

Present from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. C. Vaughan of Keswick, Mr. Vaughan's parents. On June 26 the guild met in the United church and an enjoyable evening was spent. The chief event was the presentation of a parting gift to Rev. Harold Vaughan.

After a short address by the president of appreciation for the faithful services rendered to the society and a few well-chosen words of goodwill by H. Tomes, the vice-president presented Mr. Vaughan with a beautiful all-purpose stand. Taken completely by surprise Mr. Vaughan responded with thanks and spoke with enthusiasm of the pleasure derived from his many associations with the society.

The farewell service in the United church, June 30, was well attended.

The induction of the new minister, Rev. Isaac Bowles, takes place in Bradford United church this evening, July 4, at 8:30 p.m. D.S.T. The church service at Holland Landing on July 7 will be held at 7:30 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Bellar and son, Mr. Alan Fawcett and Mrs. Clarence Fawcett motored to Rob Roy to visit relatives over the holiday weekend.

Miss Dorothy Lane of Toronto was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Sheppard last weekend.

Miss Margaret Tomes of Orillia spent the weekend at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tomes.

Miss Joan Bingham of Toronto is also the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Tomes this week.

Miss N. Chapman and Mr. J. Chapman of Toronto spent Monday at their summer home here.

LOCAL MARKET

Prices on the local market on Saturday were: eggs 22 to 24 cents, butter 25 cents, yearling chickens 20 cents, lettuce five cents, onions five cents, strawberries ten cents a box.

TORONTO MARKETS

Cattle trading was slow on Toronto markets on Tuesday. Weighty steers were $8 to $8.25. Veal calves sold at $9 to $9.50 for choice with common vealers down to $6. Hogs were $3.35 to $3.40 off-trucks for bacon.

Creamery solids were 21½ cents per pound to the producer. Grade A large eggs were 24 to 24½ cents to the selling trade.

The Ful-O-Pep Plan Helps Poultrymen

Save up to 30% to 50% on

COST OF FEEDING NEW PULLETS

Some have asked why a commercial feed manufacturer advocates a plan of restricted feeding.

The answer is simple. By advocating this basic principle in the Ful-O-Pep Rearing Plan, substantial economies are possible to alert poultrymen, and at the same time he can raise a stronger, healthier bird than by unlimited feeding.

With Ful-O-Pep Chick Starter and Growing Mash — so exceptionally rich in nutritive value — as a foundation of the Ful-O-Pep plan, poultrymen may complete the growing ration with whole oats and scratch grains, thus saving considerable money.

We believe this to be an important contribution to the practical poultrymen's method of operation. For complete information address your card or letter now to The Quaker Oats Company, Peterborough, Ontario.

WE'RE BREAKING ALL RECORDS FOR EGGS THIS SEASON.

YES, FUL-O-PEP MASH CERTAINLY PRODUCES EGGS.

FLASH... Chicago, July 4, '40

Ful-O-Pep raised birds continue to hold their lead in the National Egg-Laying Contests. Records at the end of the seventh month show 11.15 more eggs per bird for the 3,000 Ful-O-Pep raised birds as compared to the birds raised on other feeds.

SEE FOR YOURSELF HOW THE FUL-O-PEP WAY OF RESTRICTED FEEDING HELPS YOU TO SAVE ON FEED COSTS, HAVE HEALTHIER HENS, AND GET MORE EGGS!

AURORA BAND STANDS HIGH AT WATERLOO

Leaving early Saturday morning, a cavalcade of ten cars proceeded to Waterloo, where the Aurora boys' band participated in the famous Waterloo band festival.

Entered in class No. 6 the Aurora boys competed against no less than seven other bands in the largest class in the festival. These included St. Michael's school band, from Belleville, Mount Dennis, Leamington, Stratford, Hamilton 91st junior band, Toronto "K" club band and Barrie Collegiate band. Aurora was thus the band from the smallest municipality in the class.

The local band drew the last competing spot, which is generally regarded as the most nerve-racking in any competition. Nevertheless, despite handicaps, Bandmaster Robert Moore's boys did themselves proud to finish in a tie for third place, at 85½ points.

Several of the boys were entered in the solo and duet classes but in the majority of classes competed against boys older than themselves and more experienced and in some classes against adult bandsmen.

In the bass solo under 25 Frank Anderson took second place with a fine performance of the test piece, receiving 90 marks.

John McGhee and William Ransom in the cornet duet classes finished second and third in the under 20 and under 25 classes respectively, with marks of 80 and 81.

Miss Marjorie Andrews acted as accompanist for the various competitors and while the marks are not as yet available in the majority of classes, it is understood that the boys all received high standings in their respective classes.

In the evening parade and tattoo the Aurora boys linked forces with the Newmarket Citizens' band to form one of the outstanding units of the evening.

The boys returned in the wee sma' hours tired but heartened by their successes and the good time they had enjoyed.

MEDICINE MECHANIZED TOO, DOCTOR FINDS

Dr. C. R. Boulding experienced what he calls "mechanized medicine" on Sunday. Receiving a call from a patient who lived well within the Holland marsh area, he found that he could only proceed to within about one-half mile of the dwelling by automobile. The only apparent means of ingress was to hoof the marsh, which was a regular quagmire as a result of the rains of recent weeks.

However, he made the trip to the home by means of a narrow grass strip and with the accumulation of much mud and wet. The patient cared for, he dreaded the trip back the way he had come and there seemed no alternative when the man of the house decided to try his tractor, and so, riding a raft a la surf-board behind the tractor, the doctor was speedily transported to his car.

TOWN TOPICS

Salary of Charles Fray, meter-reader, is $12.50 for the monthly reading.

Bond for William Large, assistant town treasurer, was placed through Donald Galbraith at a premium of $20.

Outside relief cost Aurora $4.06 for June.

Damages inadvertently caused by the town truck to another motor vehicle on Yonge St. are fully covered by town insurance.

Hydro-electric bill for May was $2,708.61.

W. H. Taylor enters his 13th year as town assessor.

Assessor's salary is $225 per year.

Medical relief for June was $14.70.

The average used water-bowl is unsuitable for use as a culvert and should not be used, according to Councillor John Stuart, chairman of the road and bridge committee.

Safety week report will be presented to council at its next meeting.

Police motor expenses were $16 for June.

Aurora has had no building by-law in all its years as a corporation.

BUSINESS PLACES UNDERGO ALTERATIONS

Several building operations have been underway in town recently.

A new front has been provided for the Cam-Ron lunch by the owner of the building, Mrs. M. Slaney.

Extensive alterations are being made to the residence on Mosley St., occupied by Leland Bryan.

On Connaught Ave., Highway Traffic Officer Alex. Ferguson is building a fine new residence on a lot purchased from E. F. Davis.

A new front with changes to the entrance has been made to Dan's cafe.

Minzay's service station on North Yonge St. is having a large addition made.

WORKS WITH CO-OP

Dave Mathewson of Newmarket, a member of the Aurora cycling club, is now employed with the Aurora Co-operative store.

BOYS ARE IN CAMP

The Queen's Own Rifles of Toronto are now stationed at Camp Borden and with them from Aurora are G. Lloyd, N. Elmer and T. Shanks.

The Toronto Irish Regiment, with whom many young men from the district have enlisted, is now quartered at the Canadian National Exhibition grounds.

JOINS R.C.A.F.

George English, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest English, Mosley St., has joined the Royal Canadian Air Force.

RED CROSS TEA NETS BRANCH NEARLY $60

Red Cross coffers were enriched this week to the extent of $77.53. The tea, held at the home of Mrs. Thos. Dann on Saturday afternoon, was widely attended and netted the branch the handsome sum of $58.

A feature of the afternoon was a delightful music provided by an all-girls' orchestra from Toronto, who came free of charge through the courtesy of Toronto Red Cross headquarters.

Mrs. C. R. Boulding, Mrs. H. Aldrich and Mrs. P. M. Thompson were the convenors.

Seventeen dollars and seventy-five cents was received from Mr. and Mrs. Roy Middlebrook of Armthage, who gave the proceeds of a dance held at their "Rendezvous" dance hall jointly to the Aurora and Newmarket branches of the Red Cross.

An old gold and silver drive is now being carried on by the local branch, who request that citizens search through their belongings for articles of sterling silver, or of a high gold carat content for which they have no further use, or care to do on to Jewellery, watches, spectacle rims, etc., are fertile fields of exploration in a real treasure hunt. Those having donations to make should place them in a sealed envelope marked "Red Cross" and leave them with Marshall Rank, Jeweller, Yonge St.

DOWN THE CENTRE

Midhurst Foresters bowed out of the 1940 softball picture last Thursday night as Aurora nosed them out 3-2 in a well played game.

Midhurst still have three games to play but three wins will not be sufficient to give the B champions of last year a chance to get in. They lost their previous game to Richmond Hill by another one run margin, 7-6.

Their diamond is the finest in the loop amid a setting of real arboreal beauty.

The team itself is a credit to the league, the players without exception being a real bunch of sportsmen who take the bitter with the sweet and come up smiling. Personally, we would have liked to have been able to see the veteran battery of Morley Schandlen (Scanlon) and Crawford when they were in their prime. Both are past 40 and still going strong.

Reg. Corbett, brother of Aurora's Cliff Corbett, was among the Canadian recruits who recently landed in England.

"Butts" was goal-tender for Newmarket Jrs. back in 1925-26-27, when the redmen were first coming into the public eye with a real team of homebrews, which included, if we remember rightly, the Thombs brothers, Doug Marshall, "Doc" Ames, Fred Murray, Murray Lister, Bruce Trivet, "Sonny" Townsley and Scrooge Perrault.

Owen Sound Greys took them in the finals of '27. Afterwards Corbett played with Goodyears, Stockyards, Bell Telephone and other Toronto teams.

George Pattenden is to do another come-back in mushball this year, as he reports for duty with Len Simmons' Simcoe leaguers. Pat says he's not coming out of retirement but "out of mothballs."

The same gent played good ball last year and is a handy man to have around at any time. With factory conditions none too good, and the possibility that certain players, being out of work, may leave town, all the local talent available should be gone through with a fine-tooth comb.

Vandorf tied with Peterboro at Port Perry on the holiday in the tournament there. Vandorf, who have not as yet won a game in the Lake Simcoe league, were aided and abetted by one of Toronto's ace hurlers and several other new Vandorfites.

Aurora, or a hastily assembled team called that, were eliminated in the first round by the Unionville-Claremont forces in the Stouffville tournament. Only three of the big leaguers were in the local line-up. Bob Miller and Co. subsequently went on to win the honors of the day.

Camp Borden fliers certainly pulled a nasty one on the local club when they failed to show up for the scheduled game on Friday.

The club are out advertising, a quantity of programs, and a nice jack-pot from the big crowd who waited patiently until after 8 p.m. and then had their money refunded.

Excuse is not needed for the the birdmen, as we appreciate it may be difficult to field a team with a changing personnel under war conditions, but surely someone could have advised the Aurora officials, who before game time tried to no avail to ascertain if the fliers were coming.

The telephone is not incommunicado even at Borden. A practice game was played with a team headed by Bill Bone and Floyd Yake, etc., and they took a 4-3 decision from the over-confident regulars, who used Love and McComb in the box.

Biggest disappointment was in the fact that for about the first time this year all the local team were in the park and ready to start the game prior to 7.15.

Batting honours find Frank McManiuk on top with a healthy .466, "Joint" McComb is next with .450, which may not land him in pro ball but isn't bad.

Cook has .428, Wilf White .356 and Jim Lowe .308. Shore and Ray White are tied at .272, Pearce has .250, Birchard .241, Heaney .220 and Hodgins .125.

The players listed are those only who have played more than two games, so we have not listed Syd Lustic, Lyall Sparks, Herb McKenzie and Cy. Holman. Jim Lowe leads the way in the home-run department. Best sign of the bit-smiths has been the gradual recovery of Wes. Heaney and Tom. Birchard, two experienced performers who can be expected to climb during the play-offs.

Town league regular schedule, ruined because of holidays, weather, protests and factory disruption, is to be abandoned and, pending the dates of the Simcoe league play-offs, the dates for the elimination series to be run are held up.

At peace with the world. Yes, this week as we write "30," that's the feeling. We haven't tried to see what's in our slowly departing head of hair—if anything, we haven't even mentioned the gas-house gang, we haven't preached our sermons, so perhaps our friend, "the little fox," won't be able to whimsically warble for fillers, "Nyah, Nyah."

NEW AURORANS PLAY AURORA SATURDAY

The Ironmen from New Aurora (Elora) will play the Dukes from the local Fleury-Bissell plant sometime between three and four o'clock in the town park, on Saturday afternoon.

Last time out, Aurora workers defeated the head office plant with ease, but the Elora boys are now confident of taking home the pion.

A real feature of the game will be the appearance of Gordon Anthony and Syd. Lustic in the Elora line-up.

Last game they were with Aurora, but since then have been transferred to head office. Tim Holder, big impresario of the local team, has advised Coach Hack. Wilson that he has lodged a protest with General Manager Ross Mackinnon, which he threatens to take to Judge Kenesaw Landis if an unfavorable verdict is received.

Gordon Anthony, home for the holiday, averred he would be in the Elora camp and said nothing would give him and Syd. more pleasure than skinning the hides of the Wilson warriors and taking them back to hang in the moulding shop at Elora.

BOYS SIGN UP FOR AIR CADET CORPS

Lewis Swanson, Victoria St., who is organizing the local branch of Canadian Air Cadets, reports that applications are coming in steadily from youths and that a corps will definitely be formed. All those desiring to join this corps are urged to see Mr. Swanson prior to July 15, the last day for applications.

BY-LAW FOR BUILDING WILL BE NEW, NEVER HAD ONE, AURORA "JUST GREW"

The by-laws committee will wrestle with what has been greatly needed in Aurora for many years, a building by-law, following the instructions of council on Monday evening.

Councillor A. J. G. Wilson heads the committee and it is expected the by-law, with some amendments, will conform practically to the building by-law in force in the town of Weston.

The only building restrictions in force in town now are contained in two by-laws, the created fire areas, which merely condemn because of a building being a fire hazard, and the by-law recently passed through the efforts of Councillor John Stuart, whereby no further gasoline pumps or garages may be erected in town without a permit from the municipality.

There was a splendid turn-out for the veterans' decoration day service last Sunday despite inclement weather. Mayor J. M. Walton placed the wreath on the cenotaph.

LAY WREATH

There was a splendid turn-out for the veterans' decoration day service last Sunday despite inclement weather. Mayor J. M. Walton placed the wreath on the cenotaph.

EXPECT GIRL CYCLISTS TO GIVE EXHIBITION

Next Tuesday, weather permitting, Victor Cycling Club of Oshawa will engage the Aurora cycling club here in the third of a series of inter-club matches.

Secretary Bob Benville announces that the meet will be held at "Cousins" racetrack, Yonge street south, the use of which has been granted to the club by Lorne Cousins for the season. The track has been scraped and graded and is now in good shape. A series of races of various distances will be held. The Oshawa club, who have a strong ladies' section, expect to bring some of the feminine cyclists to put on an exhibition race. The securing of the track will enable the many spectators to see the races from start to finish and will be less hazardous to the riders.

Lance Pugh and Hal. Pringle, the ace motor city riders, will be on hand to defend their laurels.

AIRTIGHT SOFTBALL FAVORS AURORA 3-2

In a closely-fought battle Aurora softballers eked out a 3-2 win over the luckless Midhurst Foresters, amid the picturesque setting of the Midhurst diamond in the centre of the reforestation area, last Thursday.

Midhurst, who have been knocking at the door all season, just about made the grade against the locals as they took a new lease of life amid familiar surroundings.

Jimmy Lowe, on the rubber for the Simmons clan, pitched his best game of the season, scattering six hits among his opponents, striking out seven, and displaying a good deal better control than usual.

His mound mate, "Nuggets" Shore, was parked in centre field and made four lovely catches.

Wilf White, "Joint" McComb and Lyall Sparks were absentees. Herb McKenzie, former hardball star, made his first appearance of the year with the Simcoe leaguers and turned in a nice performance at the initial bag and at bat delivered a timely double to deep left to drive in Ray White in the fifth with what proved to be the winning run.

Cy. Holman and Ray White, both of whom have been used sparingly all season, teamed up with Shore in the outfield and made fine running catches when called upon. Hardest hit ball of the night was a resounding homer from the bat of pitcher Lowe in the first inning.

The Midhurst outfield were on their toes throughout and some of the catches made were nearly miraculous.

Schandlen had his googlie working to perfection and he was well handled by his veteran battery mate, Crawford. McMaster clicked for two hits and turned in a fine performance all round.

After two were down in the first inning, Lowe homered. Michaniuk then singled but died on the bag as Shore popped to McMaster. Midhurst got an unearned run in their half, as with one out McMaster singled, through Birchard, took second on a wild leave from the outfield, went to third on a passed ball, and came home when Wes. Heaney pegged badly to third.

Aurora went down in order in the second but Midhurst nearly scored in their turn at bat. Miles struck out, Schandlen walked, took second on Smith's infield out, C. Miles singled to left and a lovely peg by Holman got Schandlen at the plate. C. Miles going to second. Spence grounded to Michaniuk, who tagged out C. Miles.

Heaney got a hit but died at second in the third and while Crawford got a hit for Midhurst no damage was done. In the fourth frame Lowe singled and managed to get around to third but died there as Holman struck out to end the inning. Midhurst went down in order. Shore making a spectacular catch on C. Miles' boomer to deep centre.

Tom Birchard started off the fifth inning rally with a double and as Ray White singled he beat the play at the plate on a close call, White taking second. Hodgins struck out, as did Heaney, but McKenzie at the right time doubled to left field, White scoring.

Lowe rolled out to first base. C. Miles walked to open the sixth but was stranded on first. With two out, Heaney singled in the seventh to no avail, as McKenzie went down swinging behind him.

Midhurst went out to put on a garrison finish in the last of the seventh and nearly did it too. J. Smith struck out, S. Miles doubled, Spence went out, third to first, and then McMaster sent out a hit over short, Miles scoring after Lowe, who had tagged him, dropped the ball, McMaster going to third.

L. Russell came to bat and Lowe coolly settled down to strike him out on four pitched balls and end the Midhurst hopes.

Heaney and Lowe each got two hits for the scarlet and orange. R. White, McKenzie, Birchard, Shore, and Michaniuk getting the others. Only Aurora errors were two overthrows on the bases.

CHURCH CONFERENCE IS HELD AT ST. ANDREW'S

St. Andrew's College is the scene this week of the summer conference of the Toronto diocese of the Anglican church. Rev. Thomas J. Drew is dean of the college.

HIDING ASSETS, SAY RELIEF COMMITTEE

There are 42 persons now on relief in Aurora, members of nine Aurora families, the lowest number in many years, according to the relief report submitted to the town council by Relief Chairman Dr. G. A. C. Guntion on Tuesday evening.

"Two families were cut off relief last month by decision of the relief committee and one more family will be off the rolls in the near future, as the head of the family has enlisted."

The relief report was discussed by the council at great length, as the chairman outlined the drastic steps taken by the committee both with reliefees and some of those associated with relief.

In the case of one man removed from the relief roll it is alleged certain irregularities have occurred in relation to a voucher and that the application sworn to by him for relief shows no earnings by members of his family, whereas during the period in question certain amounts were earned by certain persons. Upon motion of Councillor G. A. C. Guntion and A. J. G. Wilson, the town solicitor, was instructed to take action.

DESERT ISLAND

By Isabel Inglis Colville

I've always wondered what it would be like to be cast away on a desert island, and no doubt my devotion to "Robinson Crusoe" and the "Swiss Family Robinson," did much, in my young days, to make me think it would be a most thrilling experience.

Of course, I always pictured an island where the climate was perfect, the fruits familiar and plentiful, and the animal life not too antagonistic to man — and also with a pious wish that St. Patrick had visited the island before me, for snakes were to be taboo!

As it happens, the only islands I've ever set foot on have been those in some of our smaller lakes — on these, said to say, the only fruit was blueberries, and there WERE snakes — and the Thousand Islands and the Bermudas. On the last there were no snakes, not owing to St. Patrick's kindly services, but because of the negro snake hunts, for no snake is allowed to show its nose there.

But just at present we do not need to sail the ocean blue to have some of the fun, without TOO much of the discomfort. You see, we on the fourth are each on a little desert island, and between us rolls a great sea of mud. The other day, when the huge shovel was biting off the bank and enormous trucks plunged and heaved like great mastodons, I told the assembled family that I was going to visit my neighbor across the way. The assembled family and four cats stared at me as if they had never seen me before.

"Did you hear me?" I reiterated, "I'm going across the road!" "We heard you all right," said the head of the house, "but for a person who never looks where she's going, you're taking an awful chance."

"What will you wear on your feet, and WHERE will you walk?" asked mother.

"Don't let little things like that worry you," said I, although I felt a slight qualm when two especially vicious-looking trucks flashed past the window, and for a moment I saw myself stagger into their path and collapse, just from a sort of meager fear. However, having said "I was going, and being by nature, a trifle — let me emphasize that — a trifle stubborn, I stuck to my guns and started out."

It wasn't too bad going. I didn't stick in the mud and the shovel was not quite to our gate, but just as I got near Starr's gate, I looked around, and there, coming toward me like a baited bull, was a huge truck, overloaded with mountains — more or less — of earth.

I RAN, and ran up the lane, and up the lane, too, came the truck, but before I fell from exhaustion I backed out and flew in the other direction, and my hostess told me this was the usual procedure, as their driveway was a fine turning place. All the time I sat and talked my mind was on the return voyage.

Three times I essayed to leave the lane, and three times those snorting monsters chased me back again.

At last a large and commanding person, a being like a gopher in and out of his hole, or someone practising a new kind of dance, held up his hand, and immediately the trucks ceased from troubling and the rescuer of distressed damsels bade me run along by the fence as close as I could. So, with a scornful glance at the trucks straining at their leashes and a grateful one at the large gentleman, I fled, nor stood upon the order of my going.

I stood, however, at the door till I recovered my breath, for I didn't wish to publish my plight to those who might say — and rightly — "I told you so!"

The postman, on his own two feet, and armed with a large box, goes from box to box, perched precariously on any old thing that will hold it — the post boxes — not the postmen. The butcher and baker and grocer get through when they can; walking or driving they GET here, so our desert islands have their fruits and their animals good for food.

One Saturday the man of the house said, "Will you come to town with me?" Now I wanted to go to town, but I looked at the elephantine manoeuvres of the tractors and trucks and I looked at the road and I wanted to know, "how do we get along the road?"

"Oh, there's a path of sorts," said he airily. So, armed with misgiving, I climbed into the family chariot and watching our chance, while my heart came into my mouth, and threatened to become a permanent inhabitant thereof, we squeezed between Seylla, the steam shovel, and Charybdis, the tearing trucks, and bumping along, came to a clearer passage and continued on our way.

Coming home we bumped along again, and suddenly my better half looked around in a bewildered way and asked of the world in general, I having ears and eyes only for the road — "WHERE is our house?"

We were, in fact, past our house and nearing a neighbor's lane, while in front of our home were ranged all the implements that were warping with mother earth. As we sat there, like the Jabberwock, "in uffish thought," a genial gentleman peered into the car. "Have you lost your house?" he asked, and on our giving an emphatic affirmative, he informed me that I'd better take to the fence to keep out of the way of the shovel and friend husband was told to join the truck parade and so find a way home.

Wasn't it Edgar Allan Poe who found adventure in "a tour of my room?" Well, we can find it in a tour of our road.

Where once we looked up at cars, now we look down and see only the tops, from the north, and the many changes in the road's wanderings will give a spice of adventure in the weeks to come, when we begin to travel it.

We'll be nearer Newmarket and we'll curve instead of corner. I think the road will be a joy to travel and we'll have earned the joy!

BAYONET CUTS CAKE AT SOLDIERS' PARTY

Miss Ruth Willis and Miss Jean McKnight of Toronto spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Willis.

On the evening of Thursday, June 27, friends of Pte. Harry Lavender and Pte. Douglas Richardson of the Irish regiment of Canada met in their honor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Richardson. During the early part of the evening the guests took part in games and contests, these being interspersed with readings by Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Carr, a solo by Mrs. Roy Morley and group singing.

A delicious buffet lunch was served following which the guests of honor were each presented with a fountain pen. An address was read by Arthur Starr.

The presentation of the pens was made by Mrs. Gordon Carr and the boys suitably expressed their thanks. The toast to the king was proposed by Wm. Richardson. This was followed by the singing of the national anthem and later by a toast to his majesty's forces on land, sea and in the air, proposed by Orville Ewart and replied to by Pte. Robert H. Gittens of the Royal Regiment of Canada. Howard Dike next proposed a toast to the ladies and in doing so paid tribute to the help given in war efforts in other days by the women of our lands. This toast was replied to by Miss Mabel Carr.

On a side table, below a portrait of his majesty, King George VI, and flanked by tall candles in the colors of the Irish regiment, a beautiful castellated cake rested on the Union Jack, and before it lay a sheathed British service bayonet. The guests of honor were directed to light the candles, then to jointly withdraw the bayonet from its scabbard and cut the cake. This was done, and the guests each received a portion as a souvenir of the occasion.

The top layer of the cake was sent overseas to Pte. Stanley Sloan of the Royal Regiment of Canada.

H. Griffith's at Thistletown on Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Edward Willis of Creighton Mine has been visiting at his home, Miss Jean Switzer is holidaying at Port Ryer.

Mrs. Jas. Wright, Mrs. Austin Richardson, Mrs. Chas. Richardson and Mrs. H. A. Switzer attended a Red Cross tea at Mrs. T. Dunn's at Aurora on Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Sam. Anderson and son, Jackie, of Geraldton, Ont., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Loy Carr. Wesley Ladies' Aid are sponsoring a garden party on Wednesday evening, July 10. The program is being supplied by Rev. Wesley Huntley of Toronto.

A very enjoyable afternoon and evening was held at Hartman school on Friday when the people of the community met for their annual picnic and to say farewell to their teacher. There was a program in the evening, the music being under the direction of the music supervisor, Mr. Curtis.

On behalf of the pupils, Misses Audrey Trent and Myrtle Stevenson presented a silver cream and sugar set to Miss Foote.

A beautiful table was presented by John Petch and Mr. Bowser on behalf of the school section. An address was read by Mrs. Ewart Pinder. Miss Foote has been teacher for six years and is leaving to be married.

Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Macdonald were: Mrs. Murr, Mr. and Mrs. Fisher and family of Cayton, who accompanied Miss Mary Macdonald home, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Phillips and family, Mrs. Beynon and a daughter of Temperanceville, and Misses Doris and Helen Macdonald of Ottawa.

THOMAS MARSHALL
DIES AT AGE OF 79

Congratulations are extended to four Eversley pupils, who received entrance standing without having to write the examinations. The four fortunate pupils are Betty Larkin, June Mesley, Marion Crossley and Fred Ball. Miss McClure, their teacher, is to be congratulated.

Mrs. Sherrill of Chicago, who is visiting her friends in King and is now with her old friend, Miss A. Ferguson, was much disturbed over the new legislation relating to crossing over the border, as she plans to go over the line this week.

Rev. T. Lewis Williams, Mrs. Williams and son, Tommy, have completed their stay in their home in King. The furniture has been packed and removed, part of it being forwarded to their manse in Cranbrook, B.C. This beautiful home is leased to the veterinary surgeon who succeeds Dr. D. Pinkerton.

Rev. Frank Mesley suffered injuries in an auto collision in Toronto on Saturday. Another car came into a head-on collision with Mr. Mesley's car, doing considerable damage. Mr. Mesley was crushed against the steering wheel, his chest bruised and possibly ribs broken. He is confined to his home. His splendid work among the soldiers in his church in Toronto had to be in other hands on Sunday.

Thomas Marshall, a retired farmer who lived east of Eversley, and who has been ill for a long time, passed away last Thursday. The funeral was held from his late residence on Saturday afternoon to King City cemetery. Mr. Marshall lived in the vicinity of Eversley since he was a young man, and on his present farm for 49 years. He married Miss Jennie Gellatly and bought a farm east of Eversley. Later he sold the farm to Victor Bond, retaining the house and surroundings.

Rev. M. E. Burch, pastor of which the Marshall family were stalwart members, conducted the funeral service.

Pallbearers were: Jas. Ball, Walter Gellatly, Duncan Ross, Arthur Boyair, Scott Boyair and Arwood Harman.

Mr. Marshall was a man of high integrity and much esteemed. He was in his 79th year. His widow, his daughter, Mrs. Jas. H. Robson of Purpleville, and his brother, William, survive.

A second daughter, Bessie, Mrs. H. W. Hagelstein, predeceased him some years ago, leaving two children. Mr. Marshall has a sister, Mary, in the west, and a brother, George, in Peterboro, who were unable to attend the funeral.

Mr. and Mrs. James Wells, of Bradford visited their friends here over the weekend and holiday.

SEVERAL GROUPS
HELP RED CROSS

The Red Cross Society would like to express its appreciation and grateful thanks to those who have so kindly helped the Red Cross with their generous gifts of time and money.

UNVEIL CAIRN ON SITE OF OLD CHURCH

Miss Lorna Davis of London spent the holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Davis.

Mrs. Stevenson, Toronto, was a recent visitor at the home of her brother, Mr. E. Marchant and Mrs. Marchant.

Miss Grace Amy returned late last week after a two weeks' vacation in North Bay.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Stonehouse and son were holiday visitors with Mr. and Mrs. E. Stonehouse here.

Some of those who spent the holiday on fishing trips in north-western Ontario were Mr. and Mrs. W. Althehouse, Mrs. E. Althehouse and son, Carl, Miss Agnes Foster and Grace Wauchope, also Messrs. John and Ronald Foster and others.

Miss Edith Bond and her brother, Mr. Perry Bond, Toronto, attended the reunion in Lloydtown on Saturday. Miss Bond remained for the weekend with Mrs. E. Marchant.

An event of special interest took place in Lloydtown on Saturday, June 29, when old boys and girls were brought together through the efforts of the school board and teacher, H. H. Swallow, who were supported by the co-operation of the whole community. The opening feature was the unveiling of a cairn which has been erected on the site of the old St. Mary Magdalene's church, out of the stones in the foundation of the old church.

The unveiling was performed by Mrs. E. Marchant and Mrs. R. J. Hulse, with his grace, Archbishop Owen, dedicating the memorial in memory of the pioneers of this historic district.

Other clergy present who assisted Rev. F. V. Abbott, rector, were Rev. A. C. McCollum, York Mills, Rev. J. H. Colclough, Thornhill, and Rev. J. E. Gibson, Toronto, all former rectors of the old church.

Following this ceremony, the crowd proceeded to the school, which has also become a landmark. Many happy reunions of old school mates took place while they regaled their nerves in the school. Foot races and sports filled in the remainder of the afternoon, after which some 500 people partook of the supper provided by the ladies of the school section in a huge tent erected on the grounds.

A ball game between the Toronto police force and the Schomberg team filled in the early evening, with a splendid entertainment of music and movies making the program complete.

It was altogether quite a memorable day for all concerned, and congratulations go to those responsible for its success.

Some of those coming from a distance for the Lloydtown reunion were Mrs. J. Brydon, Mrs. J. McDevitt, Mrs. W. Street, Messrs. V. Abrams, Milt. Abrams, Herman Street, O. Monkman, all of Toronto, and many others coming from Barrie, Aurora, Weston and Sudbury.

Mr. Tom Packer, who has been working in Sudbury for some months, spent the holiday weekend with Mr. and Mrs. W. L. McGowan.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Sutton and family were holiday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Marchant and other friends here.

Pine Orchard

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Moss, Joyce and Harold, Miss Doris Sutherland and Lance-Cpl. Hugh Patterson of Niagara Falls were holiday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Armitage.

Miss Hazel Woodhouse left on Saturday to accept a position at Musselman's Lake.

Miss Ruth Armitage spent the weekend with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Collins at Newmarket.

The sympathy of the neighbors is extended to the family and friends of the late Mrs. H. Goodwin in their bereavement. The funeral was largely attended on Monday.

The decoration service was well attended on Sunday. The service was held in the church owing to weather conditions.

Mr. Keffer of Toronto, guest speaker at the decoration service, visited at the home of Mr. W. Lunly.

Mrs. W. Galley of Toronto is spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. H. McClure.

Miss Beatrice Chapman had a tressoune tea for a number of friends on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. W. Marshall of Toronto is visiting the Misses Widdifield this week.

Miss Leda and Mr. R. Hawtin visited the Milne family in Lindsay Sunday afternoon. Betty and Leda Milne came home with them for some holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Eveleigh of Aurora spent the holiday at Mr. R. Chapman's.

Mr. Herb Reid of Toronto was home for the weekend.

POT POURRI

By GOLDEN GLOW

Such a lot of things have happened recently that one heading will not cover all of them so I fall back on Pot Pourri! Happenings, not only all the sudden developments of the war in Europe, but in the life of our town, I mean. And for a start, I think, for the benefit of our out-of-town readers, we should say that at long last we seem to have progressed beyond the "rainy season." It still threatens, but we have not been having whole days of heavy downpours of rain as before.

And our first annual iris show was held in the Presbyterian church basement last Saturday. Everyone feared there would be none left to show, but I can assure you it was a wonderful display, and such varieties.

Somebody last week said of the iris that it is the poor man's orchid, and that, somehow, has pleased me ever so much, for certainly they are easily grown and require practically no attention. Every day I walk around my garden to see what fresh kinds have come out during the night. I haven't an extensive variety, but I love what I have!

The most amazing thing about the iris this year is the length of their stalks. The heavy heads on some of them make them fall over unless tied up, but the majority stand proudly erect as if they really felt their importance, now that Newmarket horticultural society has given them a "show" all their own!

And another event which I missed for the first time since its inauguration was the exhibition by the school children of their work in the manual training and the domestic science departments of the school, and the art classes. So I cannot write about it as I have always done. I was "unavoidably absent" being away last Friday.

Then Sunday was our annual Decoration day up at the cemetery, the day when you meet so many old friends, who come annually to place flowers on the last resting-place of their loved ones. As usual, it was perfect weather, not too hot, but warm enough for enjoyment. Different ones were fearful there would be no flowers in their gardens because of the incessant rains, but one day's sunshine worked a miracle, and there were plenty of flowers of all sorts. The later perennials perhaps were missing but there were plenty of other flowers of all sorts.

The cemetery never looked more beautiful, for the rains have kept everything so green and fresh. There are the most wonderful trees up there, and the caretaker, Mr. "Wally" Adams (he never gets his full name I am sure!) and his helpers have been setting out more which should have a grand start by now, if moisture means anything to them. How Mr. Adams and his helpers have accomplished so much in the short space of time between downpours of rain and thunder-storms is only known to himself—I feel sure he must have cut his sleep short, and probably meal-times and rest periods, for from one corner to the other I don't think there was even a blade of grass out of place. Shrubs trimmed, flower beds full of bloom, twigs and branches gathered up, and the grass all cut and trimmed.

The benches were in place, and the seats for the afternoon service placed in front of the chapel. We were there in the morning arranging our flowers and it was with great pleasure that we listened to the sacred music rendered by Mr. Stewart Beare from his loud-speaker, placed on the roof of the chapel for use at the afternoon service, with a microphone for the speakers. Indeed the services of it were required before the air came a courteous voice asking the owners of certain cars to move them as they were blocking needed areas, and the voice repeated the license numbers of the cars. So Mr. Beare rendered an added service you see.

And I want to supplement the article I wrote last week about willows, for since then I have seen some beautiful ones I forgot to mention—and how I came to forget to mention them, I don't know, for I have loved them all my life, and even in the winter, when we used to skate up pond to the "Black Bridge" at Peter Pearson's crossing, those willows held a big fascination for me. I don't suppose anyone calls it Peter Pearson's crossing nowadays!

The "crossing" means that the road leading from Prospect St. south west to St. Wm. Mulock's corner, crosses the creek that flows north from Aurora and later becomes "Willow Lake."

That row of willows along the bank of the stream on the farm of Edgar Dennis is magnificent—and worth a far ride to see! And there are more, too, along the stream at the south side of the road, and in the wonderful garden of Miss Louie Newton beside the stream, who does so much to make our flower shows a success.

To stand up on the hill at the cemetery and look east you see plenty of splendid willow trees and they certainly make the landscape most attractive. Suppose we all take particular notice of all the willow trees we can locate this summer and see if you don't agree with me.

HEALTH AUTHORITIES WAIN AGAINST HOUSE-FLY MENACE

With the approach of warmer weather, communities are again faced with one of the greatest menaces of mankind, the common house-fly.

Doctors and writers in medical journals have pointed out, repeatedly and emphatically, the serious consequences of neglect in stamping out this plague in our homes. Consider, for instance, that scientific tests have shown that the bacteria on the hairy body of a single fly may number as many as 5,000,000, and a single buzzing fly can thus infect a whole household. Yet, in spite of these warnings, many people far too often accept the fly's existence and tolerate its presence as an inevitable evil associated with sunny days and warm weather.

Every year, unfortunately, people pay dearly for this indifference with outbreaks of infectious diseases. The summer dysentery of babies and other maladies can often be traced to these germ carriers, born and nurtured in filth which they eventually regurgitate on human food.

Several methods to control fly breeding have been advocated by health authorities, but it is practically impossible to completely eliminate this condition. However, it is possible by killing any flies that do get into the home to prevent them from transmitting filth and countless germs to dinner tables, babies' feeding bottles, and drinks and food left uncovered.

One of the most convenient and effective methods of controlling flies in the home is to place a few fly pads at strategic locations throughout the house. They work quickly, cleanly, and kill all the flies. By doing this all during the summer, we contribute in a large measure to the elimination of the fly menace in our homes and eating places, thus making our community safer and cleaner.

Our Story . . .

There has been no increase in Era printing prices since the war began last fall. Paper and printing supplies have advanced slightly and further increases are forecast, but an increasing volume of business has enabled us to avoid any price increases.

We still maintain the high standards of quality and workmanship which mean extra cost for us, extra value for the public, and more customers for us.

We are very much concerned that every printing customer should get the sort of job he wants and the sort of job that will do what it is supposed to do in the most effective way at the lowest cost.

Sometimes we suggest cheaper paper than the customer has in mind, and sometimes we suggest better paper than he has in mind, but we always try to contribute our best, in ideas, knowledge and effort, to every customer's job.

We invite your trust and confidence when you have printing to be done. We are always glad of the opportunity to give information or to quote a price.

We do not expect to get every job we quote on, but we do expect to give satisfaction on every job we get.

High quality at low price—that is our boast and your opportunity.

SUTTON WEST
VETERANS REJECT
AURORA PROPOSAL

A motion for the disbandment of the York County War Veterans' association for the war period and the federation of its individual member branches with one of the dominion-wide veterans' associations, recommended to the central association by the Aurora war veterans' branch, was turned down at the meeting of the York county association held in Sutton West on Saturday evening.
W. P. Mulock, M.P., was re-elected president. Ben F. Cox of Toronto was re-elected secretary and James Butler of Richmond Hill was re-elected treasurer.
The Schomberg-Kettleby-Nobleton association of war veterans, represented by Gladstone Lloyd of Schomberg, were granted affiliation with the county organization. There were about 150 veterans present from all parts of the county and among those from Aurora attending were Comrades C. C. Lee, Geo. Langstaff, George Walker, Thos. Smith, Wm. Muford, John Hudson, Arthur Sayes, G. A. C. Gunton, among others.

PEPPER AND SALT

By "PEP"

They say that when a writer has nothing to write about he writes about nothing, and long-suffering readers suffer some more. This week, with the fast-ball boys taking a holiday (comparable to the seventh inning stretch during a hardball game), in preparation for the play-off drive is on, and with the now daily expected rains taking their toll of the feminine contests, there is nothing, well very little, to say. However, diligent search has uncovered the following.

Jack Dreury (one of the holidaying tannery hardball players) and Jack Duncan are camping this week at Jackson's Point. Probably their theme song is "It's the dance kids," for these two J.D.'s are pushovers for a waltz.

The only difficulty at Jackson's, at present, is in keeping the frost-bites at a minimum. I hope the chamber of commerce will forget that attempted crack, because time, as measured in this instance by warmer weather, heals all things.

Johnny O'Connor, the local welterweight, renewed his fistic wars in Dominion day festivities up at East Martlet. Harry Myles, of Toronto, provided the opposition. Johnny is holder of the Toronto Daily Star trophy for welterweights.

In the local police court Tuesday, a man, with alias for a name, got seven years in the penitentiary. He took the sentence seemingly without a tremor (for evidence showed that he had lived in a cell a good part of his life).

"How old are you?" asked the judge.

"44," (and this time with a tremor).

This man looked like a respectable and well-mannered citizen, in fact, at first, I had him tabbed as a witness for the crown—but, instead, was a hardened criminal.

I don't mean to imply that you should suspect your respectable neighbors, but it struck me that if this man had been helped along the strait and narrow path in his youth, he would have been someone's respectable neighbor now.

her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Draper, over the weekend.

The ladies of the Elmhurst Beach Institute are having a baking booth at the "Garden Fair" to be held at Mr. McKinnon's estate at Roche's Point on Friday, July 5. There will be all kinds of attractions on the grounds and all the friends of the community are invited to come and make this an outstanding day for all, as it is in aid of the Red Cross society and the need for money and help is very great.

The Elmhurst Beach Institute will meet at the home of Mrs. Coulson Cameron (Terryholme) on Tuesday, July 9, at 2 p.m. standard time. Mrs. Charles of Aurora will be the guest speaker and there will be music and other entertainment. All members are asked to provide the lunch. All ladies of the community are cordially invited to attend.

RAVENSHOE
TEACHER IS GIVEN
FAREWELL PARTY

On Thursday evening, June 27, a number of people gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. Rose for a farewell for Miss Atkinson, who taught the pupils of Ravenshoe school for the last four years. She was presented with an end table and electric lamp.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Gordon visited Mr. and Mrs. C. Gordon on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Cowleson and Irene of Toronto visited Mr. and Mrs. E. Pollard over the weekend.

Visitors at the Smith home on Sunday were Mrs. Sheppard and Mr. and Mrs. King and children, of Toronto.

A shower was held for Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shaw on Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Shaw.

The church service has changed for the summer months. Sunday-school will be at 10 o'clock and the church service at 11.15 a.m. The new minister, Rev. Gordon Lapp, will occupy the pulpit.

A social evening and farewell party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Hamilton for Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Fockler. Friends wish them every success in their new home at Maple.

Mrs. C. Gordon spent Monday with Mr. and Mrs. G. Micks, Sharon.

days with her son and family near Aurora last week.

Mrs. Smith of Guelph is visiting her sister, Mrs. M. Rynard. Miss Helen Rynard of Toronto is spending a few holidays at her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Wright and family of Toronto spent Sunday with Mrs. Wright's sister, Mrs. Dewey Graham and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Hilson of Toronto spent Sunday and Monday with Mrs. Profit.

Harry Risley, an old resident of Zephyr, is seriously ill in hospital in Toronto.

Little Joyce Kennedy is visiting her cousin, Betty Armstrong.

The fishermen who went to fish on July 1 were unsuccessful.

George and Howard Pickering have enlisted in the Irish Regiment. They left Zephyr Monday morning.

Cpl. Wilfred Rynard, lately of Trenton, has been transferred to Prince Albert, Sask., as instructor.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR JAMES LONGHURST

The funeral of the late James Longhurst of Zephyr, who died on June 22, was held at the home of his son, Harry Longhurst, on June 24 in Mount Albert. Interment took place in Mount Albert cemetery. The service was conducted by Rev. R. V. Wilson.

Palbearers were George Hammett, Beverley Sinclair, Seymour Harper, William Horner, Ab. Horner and Nathan Longhurst.

Born in Scott township on July 23, 1854, the son of Charles Longhurst and Martha Lepard, he married Rhoda Ann Jennings on Oct. 29, 1878, who predeceased him Feb. 26, 1917.

James Longhurst was identified with the Christian church. He had been ill only two days at the time of his death.

Surviving are three sons, George and Harry of Mount Albert, Wesley of Newmarket, two daughters, Mattie of Toronto, Emma (Mrs. Merriweather) of Franklin, one brother, Robert, of Huntsville, and one sister, Mrs. D. Houser of Huntsville. There are 19 grandchildren and 11 great grandchildren.

KESWICK
CREDIT PASTOR WITH UNIQUE ACHIEVEMENT

Lakeside Women's Institute held its June meeting on Wednesday afternoon, June 26, at the home of Mrs. W. Davison. Mrs. Roy Pollock, the president, presided.

It was decided in the business part of the meeting to send several boxes of fruit and vegetables to members who were sick. Twenty dollars was voted to be given to the Keswick branch of the Red Cross Society. Miss Eva Gilroy gave a splendid address on how to detect poison ivy and care for poisoning by nose-bleed and how to deal with fish bones.

Mrs. Orley Hayes gave a lovely reading that gave the viewpoint of the other fellow, who may have slipped and had trouble, called "The Other Fellow." Several visitors were present. As a special treat, Mrs. Davison served cookies and tea. The next meeting of the Lakeside Women's Institute will be held on the last Wednesday in September.

Next Sunday Rev. Gordon Lapp, new pastor of Keswick United church, will preach his first sermon as pastor of Keswick church.

On Sunday, June 30, Rev. Mr. Fockler preached his farewell sermon at the Sunday morning service of Keswick United church. A very large number attended. Mr. Fockler said he wished to leave four points with the people in Keswick as a result of his ministry. The points, which Mr. Fockler explained in his sermon, were as follows, "The need of education, character, religion and Christ."

The ball team of Keswick United church Young People's Society played Aurora Young People's ball team last week and Queensville Young People's ball team on Monday night of this week and won both games.

The United church choir visited Ravenshoe United church on Sunday evening and led in the service of song.

The final meeting of the Young People's Society of the United church for the summer season was held on Thursday evening, June 27. This meeting took the form of a social evening. Games were played and lunch served.

On Wednesday evening, June 26, a large number of members and adherents of the United church met in the church to bid Rev. C. E. Fockler, Mrs. Fockler and Miss Margaret Fockler farewell. Rev. Mr. Fockler begins his pastorate on the Maple charge in July.

After community singing Mr. Davison requested the guests of honor to come to the platform. When they were seated there William Marritt read the following address, and George Hamilton presented a gift of money from the members and adherents of the church.

"It is with mixed feelings of joy and sadness that we have met here to spend a social evening together before your departure to your new circuit: joy when we think of what God has wrought during your pastorate here and a sadness when we think that you are leaving the community."

"We thank God that our community for the past 21 and a half years has been so fortunate as to have you living with us, with the example before us of a true Christian minister's home."

"Your experience here, Mr. Fockler, we venture to say, could not be duplicated in the dominion of Canada, if indeed in the world. The first 12 years as pastor of the Christian church and then the last nine and a half years as pastor of the United church. We realize that to a great extent it was due to your efforts that the uniting of the major part of the two congregations of our village was accomplished, which we believe is an object lesson for other communities to make note of and follow."

"We review with great joy and satisfaction the result of this union of the two congregations and what has been accomplished during the past eight years. Love and harmony that has prevailed in all departments of the church we attribute to your splendid, tactful leadership. Words fail us to express to you both our high esteem for and appreciation of your work in the church services and also for your kind sympathy for us in times of sickness and death in our homes."

"Our sincere wish and prayer will be for your success in every way in the circuit from which you have accepted a call. We are very glad indeed that you are not so far away, so that you can visit us occasionally."

"We could not think of having you leave without presenting you with a love gift. Being in a dilemma what to purchase with what we have collected, we finally decided to present this gift, asking you to purchase with it something for your home and keep it as a present from the adherents and members of Keswick United church, who will always love and respect you."

Mr. and Mrs. Fockler replied, thanking the people of the congregation for the gift. Mr. Fockler spoke of the help that Mrs. Fockler had been in his work and Mrs. Fockler said that Keswick friends grew dearer as the time came to part.

Then Miss Joan Baines read an address to Miss Margaret Fockler and Miss Eva Gilroy presented a gift of money.

The men served the lunch in a very efficient way. On Sunday the girls in Miss Fockler's Sunday-school class made her another presentation.

Roche's Point

For many weeks the executive and members of the local branch, with help from Toronto and Elmhurst branches, have been planning a Red Cross fair, which is to be held on Friday, July 5, at Strathdale, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. Bruce MacKinnon.

The fair is to be opened at 4 p.m., D.S.T., by Dr. D. E. Robertson of Toronto. Dr. Robertson is well known for his outstanding work at the Hospital for Sick Children and his interests in many other charitable organizations. There will be attractions for young and old. Tea will be served from 6 p.m. until 8 p.m. The executive wishes to announce that in the event of rain the fair will be carried over until Saturday afternoon, July 6.

Colossal

The fellow had just got back from Hollywood. He had been dazzled by the display of glamour and brightness in the movie colony. "Everything is done on a tremendous scale," he related to a friend, "I attended a dinner at a movie producer's home one evening, and instead of using finger bowls at the end of the meal, all the guests took showers."

HOLT

The One Objection

The shopkeeper was very anxious to sell his prospective customer a dachshund, but the man didn't seem very keen on this type of dog.

"What is it about a dachshund you don't care for?" asked the shopkeeper.

"They make such a draft when they come into a room," complained the man. "They always keep the door open so long."

Jack Smith, an ex-service man, has gone on active duty for home defence.

NEWMARKET W.C.T.U.

Over 700 names were signed to a petition forwarded to the premier, Hon. Angus Macdonald, by the W.C.T.U. of Amherst, N.S., in which they asked that government liquor stores in the province of Nova Scotia be suspended during the period of the war. It was pointed out that over $5,000,000 was diverted into this channel last year. One county alone spent $311,000.

This was declared to be a waste at a time when all countries have been urged to conserve the financial resources of the country to assist in the prosecution of the war. Not only was this great waste of money mentioned, but also, the suffering and want occasioned by the indulgence of that which brings no good to the individual, but the reverse to those dependent upon him, and likewise himself.

The petitioners represented all classes in the community, and desired earnestly, that in the interest of the war effort, these stores should be closed.

One also asks, "why must wet canteens be tolerated in many training camps of Canadian soldiers? The habit formed there may ruin their lives. Selected—White Ribbon Tiddlers.

YOUNG MAN DROWNED NEAR ROCHE'S POINT

The second drowning tragedy of the year took place at Lake Simcoe on Sunday, when William D. Johnston, son of Rev. and Mrs. W. J. Johnston of Eglinton United church, Toronto, lost his life near Roche's Point, only about half a mile from shore.

Caught in a sudden storm in their sailboat, he and two companions clung to the boat for several hours after their craft had overturned. Although it was broad daylight, they were unable to attract attention on the shore, until Johnston had succumbed to the cold. Shortly after this rescue came for the other two men.

WIN BY ONE GAME

On Wednesday evening Aurora tennis club won a notable win over Uxbridge on the local courts by the narrow margin of one game in seven played. It marked the first occasion that Aurora has defeated Uxbridge in league competition and firmly entrenched the local club in first place with three straight wins.

The men's A doubles was the deciding contest of the night and was fiercely contested before Wink, Barnard and Alf. Cooper salted the game away. The victory is all the more remarkable as Aurora were without two of their top ranking players, Keith Davis, who is in the air force, and Lees O'wram, who was absent.

Ladies' singles: Grace Bauleh, Uxbridge, defeated Helen Calhoun of Aurora; ladies' doubles, Constance Willis and Mae Fry, Aurora, defeated Mrs. Harris and Miss Bauleh, Uxbridge.

Mixed doubles, Bob Harris and Mrs. Harris, Uxbridge, defeated Stan Walker and Mae Fry, Aurora; men's A singles, Wink Barnard, Aurora, defeated Bun Willis, Uxbridge; men's B singles, Bruce Gould, Uxbridge, defeated Del Babcock, Aurora.

Men's A doubles, Barnard and Cooper, Aurora, defeated Harris and Gould, Uxbridge.

Men's B doubles, H. Neilly and Babcock, Aurora, defeated Willis and Smith, Uxbridge.
